RED CROSS CHAPTER IN DISTRICT TRIPLED

Report Read at Annual Meeting Shows Membership of 20,000.

The District of Columbia chapter of the American Red Cross has three times as many members today as it had a year ago, and four times as many as the entire national organiza-tion had at the beginning of the war, according to the report made at the annual meeting of the chapter at Rauscher's vesterday.

This report shows the present mem-bership to be over 20,000, while one year ago it was 7,944. In the latter part of 1914 the national body had only 5,000 members. Subscriptions to date have been $375,000, of which $309,444.08 have been paid in and $203,203.42 disbursed.

The work of printing, distributing, and selling the Christmas seals this year will be turned over to the So-clety for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, to whom the net receipts have always gone.

Reports showed excellent work done by each of the refreshment, supply, motor, and clerical corps, as well as by the military relief committee, Two base hospitals have been equipped by the chapter at a cost of over $15,000 and motorcycle and motor ambulances have been donated to different units of the army.

The officers of the chapter are: Admiral Sydney Staunton, chairman; Henry B. F. MacFarland, first vice chairman; Gen. J. G. Knight, second vice chairman; H. S. Reeside, treas-urer, and Mrs. T. H. McLaughlin, sec-

THE LOCAL MARKET VISIT TO AMERICAN CAMP DESCRIBED BY CLEMENCEAU

CHAU. (Former Prime Minister of France.)

International News Service PARIS, Oct. 3, by mail to New York, Oct. 20 .- I wanted to see the Americans and I visited their camp.
It was not idle curiosity that led me to their quarters during my recent trip to the front. The traditional French sympathy for the United States and its wonderful people, Americans and I visited their camp. American Graphsphone 6's going at It was not idle curiosity that led me States and its wonderful people, deepened by the active renewal of a common alliance of thought that has endured for 140 years and resulted in endured for 140 years and resulted in the armed intervention of the great republic and the presence of its troops within the fighting lines, all combined to draw me to the American camp to present the salutations of a French friend to the young men who have come out of the West to give battle to the barbarians—to drive them back under the intertwined flags of America and France. And then—why not admit it frank-nags of America and France.

And then—why not admit it frankly?—I wanted to see, as much as the men whose reputation for audacity and intrepedity is world-wide, their organization and how they are adapting themselves in the shortest possible time, to conditions of warfare that found even the oldest armies in Europe unprepared. es in Europe unprepared.

Struck by Morale. Above all, I was struck by the norale that this race from across the sea inspired in presenting itself before us as the disinterested champion of right without any though of conquest or gain.

It was Sunday morning when arrived and a Sabbath stillness per arrived and a Sabsata stimes per vaded the entire camp. A number of soldiers were stretched out in the fields while others were perched on piled-up stones, which they seemed to find easy seats. Many were mingling with the inhabitants of the village, talking to them in sign language of their own invention. There were a number of women and children am them. A little later the general in command told me it was astonishing how quickly real friendships have sprung up among the Americans and villagers, the latter showing even more hospitality toward the Ameri cans than toward their own soldlers

Greeted With Directness. When I was presented to the general se greeted me with the simple directness which is the charm of their existence and I at once felt at liberty to get right to the purpose of my busi-ness.
